New Light Agreement Will Mean Saving to Majority; Only Domestic Rates Varied

CHANGE BECOMES EFFECTIVE AT NEXT READING OF METERS

The bylaw to amend the rate agreement between the Village of Crossfield and the Calgary Power Company received its final reading and was passed at the regular meeting of the village council on Tuesday night. Mayor W. J. Wood expressed his pleasure with the Calgary Power Company's terms to offer this new rate which will mean a big saving to consumers.

The new agreement will effect changes in rates to all domestic subscribers, some 82 per cent receiving reductions which will range from 80c to $1.50 per year. These figures are based on last year's consumption.

Basis of the change, which will affect only domestic users, will be a minimum monthly charge of $3.10 for the first 20 kilowatt hours, with a reduction of 80c for prompt payment. All kilowatt hours of energy used in excess of the first 20 will be charged at 2c per kilowatt hour. Thus a consumer using 50 kilowatt hours and paying promptly will be charged $3.40. Under the old system the same consumer would pay $4.80. According to last year's figures on consumption, 13 consumers will be affected by higher rates, and over the year these increases will range from 71c to $9.90.

The change will become effective from the next reading of meters.

Connection charges for new consumers, according to the new agreement will be $3.10 and will not be refundable. Re-connection charges will be $5.60.

BOARD OF TRADE PLANS MEETING IN SEPTEMBER

The Executive Committee of the Crossfield & District Board of Trade is making arrangements for a meeting to be held at the latter end of September, providing harvesting conditions permit. Agenda of the session will include drawing up of a program for the winter season and to attend to other business that requires immediate attention.

SIDEWALK 'CYCLISTS' WILL SUFFER 14-DAY BIKE CONFISCATION

The Crossfield Village Council on Tuesday night added a rider to the bylaw forbidding riding of bicycles on the sidewalks of the town. The amendment calls for a 14-day confiscation of the bicycle and the council instructed J. Belshaw, town constable, to strictly enforce the new ruling. Second offenders will have their cycle gaol for 90 days.

$30 MILLIONS

REGINA, Sept. 3.—Wheat acreage reduction bonus cheques will flow into the pockets of western Canadian farmers, who have complied with the government request to cut their acreage sowed to wheat, at the rate of $3,000,000 a week for the next eight or nine weeks, officials announced here today. The end of October, it is hoped, will see final cheques mailed representing a total estimated $30,000,000 for the season.

Payment of wheat acreage reduction bonus began July 24. To date payments has been somewhat slow due to the necessity of checking claims before cheques are issued. The department now is getting into full swing. Payments made up to now total approximately $2,500,000, but Tuesday $500,000 was paid out from the offices in the three prairie provinces and it is expected this pace will be maintained until the last cheque has been placed in the mails.

Madden Girl Feted On 21st Birthday

Many friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Priest of Madden on Saturday to honor Miss Margaret Priest on her 21st birthday. The first part of the evening was spent in humorous games, then dancing and singing to the music of the Martin brothers ensued, opening with "Till the Lights of London Shine Again" dedicated to Margaret's brother serving in His Majesty's Forces. After a delicious buffet supper Mr. Alvie Cowitz proposed a toast on behalf of those present wishing the guest of honor many more years of happiness. This was followed by a toast by Mr. Andy Taylor to Margaret's brother and her sister who were unable to be present. Mr. Priest then spoke for the family and presented the guest of honor with an 8-piece set of silver in an oak chest and engraved with her initials.

After more games, the evening closed with all the guests forming a circle and singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

ARE YOU A WAR SAVER?

One, Two, Three, Shift! Moving 'Blitz' In Crossfield

There seems to be just enough dwelling accommodation in the Village of Crossfield to fit the population and one good move accounts for several more. This week another of those periodic cycles caused a shuffling of the populace, like a game of Chinese Checkers.

Starting the moving blitz was the buying by Mrs. M. Sutherland of the home owned by Mrs. Halsbeck and occupied by the George Gilson family. The Gisons then moved to the suite above The Chronicle office. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cumming took the cue and now occupy the home vacated by Mrs. Sutherland, thus leaving vacant the little home owned by Mrs. M. Stevens which was bought and will be occupied by Fred Elhard.

Good community spirit was displayed by several ladies in helping their neighbors with the problems that arise from moving, and Board of Trade President J. Hesketh assisted Mrs. Sutherland in moving to her new home.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES AT CARLYLE

Word has been received of the death of Mr. Hume Robertson at Carlyle, Sask. Deceased was 81 years old and had been in ill health for some time. Mr. Robertson was a former resident of this district and is survived by two brothers at Dog Pound, John and Jim Robertson, also by a son in Saskatchewan.

Parking Rules Will Receive Strict Attention

Following violations of the village bylaw, it was decided at the meeting of the Village Council on Tuesday night, and steps will be taken to familiarize motorists with the regulations.

"No Parking" signs will be erected on the east side of main street to curb that violation of the parking bylaw, and strips will be painted on the sidewalk at the south end of the main thoroughfare showing motorists that parking must be done at a 45 degree angle facing a southerly direction.

During the discussion of this portion of the meeting, a suggestion arose that permission be obtained from the C.P.R. to use the vacant lot on the east side of the street as a parking lot. This will be further gone into by the council.

It was reported to the meeting that the swings in the village park had been repaired.

The Streets Committee reported that two new cement crossings and one new culvert had been installed.

The property of the late Geo. McLeod was sold to G. Butler on his offer of $500.

The meeting decided on the surveying of the piece of land surrounding the skating rink.

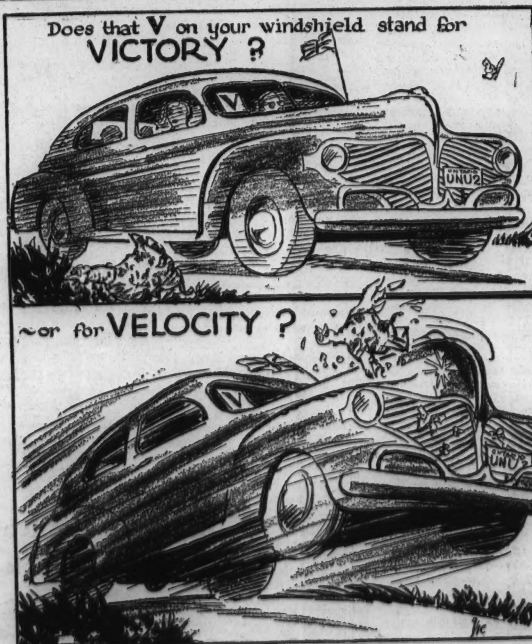

Before adjournment the council recalled that on September 10 Canada enters her third year of war against Germany and her allies and re-dedicated itself to support of Canada's War Effort.

OLDS AGRICULTURAL OPENS OCTOBER 14; VERMILION CLOSED

The Schools of Agriculture of Alberta were first established in 1913. Since 1931 schools have operated at Olds and Vermilion but with present wartime conditions and as a measure of economy, the school at Vermilion was closed this spring for an indefinite period. The school at Olds will therefore serve the entire province for the next regular fall and winter term and until further notice.

Opening of the 1941-42 term at the Olds School of Agriculture and Home Economics is announced for Tuesday, October 14. The school has reported an unusually heavy advance registration, and expects that dormitory and class room accommodation will be taxed to the utmost. Despite present crop uncertainties, low grain prices and conditions caused by the war, a capacity enrolment of students is likely to be in attendance this winter.

H. B. Moon, proprietor of Moon's Groceria, is renovating his premises and putting up a partition between the two departments housed in the building.

Troops at Tobruk Vie Over Planes Shot Down

Expose Themselves to Heavy Fire to Get Pot At Nazi Plane

By M. H. HALTON

INSIDE BESIEGED TOBRUK, Sept. 3.—Each time I go down into the town of Tobruk itself from anywhere else within our deathless arc, I know I am entering the hottest spot in the whole area. The enemy shells it periodically with 240-pound shells from very big guns far away and several times daily it is dive-bombed by anything from 10 to 20 Stukas.

The enemy's main object is to destroy Tobruk's quays, jetties, harbor installations and lighters to impede the landing of supplies. Of course we have an air force too, and what a heavenly sight the British fighters can be at certain times.

Tobruk is a town of white and pale rose buildings, all destroyed or damaged. Its harbor is an ordinary scene. It is full of wrecked shipping, mostly Italian.

EX-C.P.R. LINER SUNK

When I first crossed the Atlantic to England, I travelled in the C.P.R. liner Montcalm. The Italians bought the Montcalm for a troop ship before the war and renamed it the Liguria. It now lies wrecked and beached in Tobruk harbor.

Think of the base depot men, the dockers and movement control people and the rest who must live right in Tobruk all the time. You are sitting there talking when a warning siren sounds. A minute later Stukas are diving at you and the world goes mad. Men rush to their posts with what seems to be actual glee.

If I had taken what little shelter there is, I would have been practically the only person in Tobruk doing so. Taking shelter many times a day waiting for bombs to crash and wondering if you will be hit is bad for morale, anyway. When men have jobs to do they are far less worried, have no time to think about themselves and vie with each other trying to bring down a plane with small arms.

It is a wonderful thing to see. I admire the nerve of fliers who dive-bomb through that Tobruk barrage—and believe me, some of them drop their bombs and pull out of their dive sooner than they are supposed to and roar away across the sea from danger.

During these raids we have everything going off from the town itself and from all over. Hundreds of men pot away with machine-guns and rifles and hundreds of others manipulate old Italian guns and, of course, our real anti-aircraft guns and "other devices" go into action.

AN INFERNAL SPECTACLE

I wriggle with excitement watching shells exploding near planes while men shout and swear: "That's got him—no, he's pulled out, but I bet he's sick." "Look, look, blank blank, for sweet blank's sake, look at that baby. He's crashing. I tell you he's crashing in flames, rot his soul."

A plane hurtles smoking down to death. Others are still diving at us. Bombs crash round us in already wrecked buildings or harmlessly in the harbor. One audacious plane comes very low and machine-guns us. The sky is full of hundreds of bursting shells and the harsh rat-ta-tat of machine-guns. It's an infernal spectacle.

A few minutes later all is over and the men sit round smoking or resume their tasks.

Soon there's another alarm. "They're Hurricanes, they're Hurricanes," comes the delicious news and soon we see a flight of these swift, silver, angels of death circling high above. But our planes have come far over enemy country, whereas Tobruk is ringed with enemy squadrons.

After the raid I walk around the little town seeing the points of interest. Over the door of a building used by the movement is the dishonored Italian Fascist credo in big letters: "Believe, obey, fight." Over this sign the movement control had affixed a certain domestic utensil as its sign.

On the building we use as a depot, the Italians had the words: "Be worthy of your country." Under this a sergeant has written: "Hands off our gear."

TOBRUK'S DAILY PAPER

In Tobruk there is the office of a daily paper. Yes, Tobruk has its daily paper. It is entirely produced by one man, a young Australian sergeant, Robert Williams. He gets his news from the very few radios in Tobruk, then mimeographs some 600 sheets for distribution among the troops. The paper is called the Tobruk Truth or Dinkum Oil. Dinkum oil is Australian for the real McCoy. On the paper's masthead are the words: "We always appear," and so far it hasn't missed a day.

One Australian unit publishes a weekly called Mud and Blood. It is witty, satirical and definitely not for family reading. Fortunately there are no ladies in Tobruk. "There are no gentlemen either," said someone on reading a paragraph in Mud and Blood.

One young Aussie with a phenomenal memory listens to the B.B.C. nine o'clock news and then visits our camp. We sit in the cool of the evening under date palms outside our mess in the side of a hill and cigarettes glow in the darkness as the soldier repeats the news bulletins, word for word. "I've seen the news," said one Aussie. "They've changed the whole complexion of the war."

A PICTURE TO KEEP

It is one of the many little Tobruk pictures which will remain vivid in my memory—these grand soldiers, officers and ranks sitting together in our little Verandah, listening to the news and thinking their thoughts under the desert stars, with the sullen thunder of guns not far away. And any minute our wadi might be shelled and sometimes is.

After hearing the news they talk. Chiefly they talk of Tobruk— anecdotes, jokes, of dive-bombings and great exploits. But also they discuss the war and the things men fight for and the things men dream of. Then we slip away to our caves or dugouts and listen to the guns and listen for planes, but soon we are sung to sleep by the waves of the wise old Mediterranean breaking gently on the shore.

There is another war correspondent with me in Tobruk, excellent Willie Forrest of the London News-Chronicle, whom I last saw in Finland. We share with him the most memorable of all. It is a church service Sunday night in a cavern. The orchestra is provided by two violins and the undertones of war outside. Hardened warriors, to whom we all owe a great debt, are singing "Abide With Me, Fast Falls the Eventide." Imagine their thoughts as they sing the sublime words of the 23rd psalm. "The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want

SUPPORT GROWS FOR A.M.A. CAMPAIGN

All parts of the province continue to show growing interest in the campaign initiated by the Alberta Motor Association to induce the Alberta Government to earmark all motor revenue for road improvements.

Doubtless there is not a section of the province but believes most strongly in this need, as there is hardly a section that is not in need of highway improvements—and this district is no exception.

When the provincial government is collecting upwards of $6,000,000 in taxes from motorists in the form of gasoline taxes and licenses, a considerably larger sum than usual could be spent on the roads.

The province of Ontario has set a fine example of what can be done by Alberta and other provincial governments. For a number of years the Ontario government has reserved motor revenues for road purposes, besides borrowing additional capital for highway needs. Today Ontario enjoys the lion's share of the wealth left in Canada by tourists.

The time to make the demand for roads is now so that when the next session of the legislature convenes there will be enough pressure to warrant immediate action.

70 PRESENT AT TROUSSEAU TEA FOR WILDA LAUT

On Saturday, August 23, Mrs. G. A. C. Dougan was hostess to 70 guests who called at a trousseau tea for Miss Wilda Laut whose marriage took place last Wednesday. Mrs. I. Laut and Mrs. J. Riley presided at the tea table in the afternoon and Mrs. J. Hesketh and Mrs. W. Laut in the evening. Misses Margaret and Jean Laut, Irene Hesketh, Nora Fleming and Mrs. L. Spivey and Mrs. E. Clayton served through the afternoon and in the evening. Misses Dot Hesketh and Fanny Gough displayed the trousseau in the afternoon and Mrs. C. Lyall in the evening.

... He maketh me to lie down in green pastures ... He prepareth a table for me in the presence of mine enemies ...

The singing voices are strong and clear: "Yet here we are not beside the cool water," nor "green pastures," but in what the same psalm calls "the valley of the shadow." And some of the brave young company which sang that night may be lying in our cemetery beside Bards Road when Tobruk is at last relieved.

BEAT OFF BOMBERS

CAIRO, Sept. 2.—The British garrison of besieged Tobruk on Libya's Mediterranean coast beat off a heavy dive-bombing attack Monday in which 100 planes took part, the British Middle East command announced today. Despite severity of the attack, damage and casualties were negligible.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Chronicle,
Dear Sir:

May I have a few lines in your paper to enquire who is responsible for the care of the War Memorial erected in the Village Park?

The memorial was generously subscribed to by the citizens of the Crossfield district as well as as of Rosebud and Beaver Dam municipalities.

A committee elected from the Board of Trade and the Canadian Legion organizations had charge of the movement and made a success of it. Today this splendid memorial looks neglected and abused.

Yours very truly,
Humble Citizen.

WALLET HOLDER MISSING WITH $30

An acquaintance who took took his pocketbook for safe-keeping while Louis Jurasek of Calgary went on a "bender" last week was accused by Jurasek of theft of $30. After making a report to police, Jurasek left the city to work on a farm near Crossfield.

EAST COMMUNITY CLUB RECEIVES LETTERS FROM BOYS SERVING IN BRITAIN

Another group of postcards and letters from Crossfield district boys who are serving overseas has been received by the East Community Smokes Fund, thanking the donors of cigarettes sent to England. Key theme of the letters is the need of cigarettes "over there" and the hope that they will be home perhaps sooner than is expected.

Dear Friends: I received your very welcome gift of 300 cigarettes yesterday and I appreciate them and thank you all ever so much for them. I sure hope things are going along fine and that crops are good and that you get a fair price. The Crossfield Chronicle is arriving O.K. and I sure appreciate getting the news from home.

We see quite a few planes going over these last few days so I guess our air force must be busy raiding the enemy. Stan. Sweitzer, Oren Fike and I will all be together this week for a month or so as all our companies in the First Battalion are reorganizing and will do intensive training for a while. Our mail takes anywhere from 3 weeks to a month to arrive here so the news is a little old when we get it, but we sure like it anyway.

Well, friends, as news is very scarce I will close for now, so cheerio and all the best as the English say. Hope to hear from you soon.—Ken Gilchrist.

Dear friends: Many thanks for the cigarettes that I received through the East Community Smokes Fund, for cigarettes are very hard to get over here in England.—Tom Knowles.

Dear friends: Thanks ever so much for the cigarettes I received the other day, for it is sure swell of you people to send them. Believe me, they are kind of hard to get over here. Solong for now, everyone, hoping to see you all soon, and more thanks for the smokes.—R. Turner.

Dear friends: I received your parcel of 300 cigarettes yesterday and was very glad to get them. Smokes are a precious thing over here, being as they are rather hard to get. So a parcel of cigarettes is the best present a fellow over here can get. I am in good health, and with my sincere thanks to all concerned, I remain yours sincerely —John O. Melling.

Dear friends: Received your most welcome cigs. this week and I hardly know how to express my thanks. You can tell all concerned they are really appreciated—and no kidding. Hope I see you all sooner than we expect.—R. McFadyen.

Dear friends: Thanks a million, folks. They sure are appreciated. Hope to be seeing you all soon.—S. R. Sweitzer.
